Advice re illness in your children at the start of term.

Dear Parents,

As you may be aware, some children have developed colds at the start of term, due no doubt to the reintroduction of school after a period of absence. I would like to give the following advice:

My advice is if you think that your child has a cold and it is taking the form that a cold usually takes, and they are well enough to be in school- they may come in. If they have a cough that is a ' clearing'type, productive cough, this is ok too.

If they have a temperature and a cold- they should remain at home until this has gone and they feel well enough to return.

If they have a temperature with no cold symptoms and/ or a new continuous cough/ loss of taste and smell please phone 111 and ask advice.

This is my considered advice, as a Headteacher- following guidance from PHE and the DFE, but I am not a medically trained professional. Please always refer to your doctor if at all unsure.

Should this guidance change I will inform you promptly.

If we have any confirmed cases of COVID in school I will also inform all members of the school community and issue guidance accordingly,

Kind regards

Lucy Macey- Headteacher
